OVERCOATS AND SUITS!

There are lots of men who work hard every ay in the year, coining money by the sweat of heir brow or by their brains, who, when it comes to a question of CLOTHING, positively throw away in a few minutes as much money as it took them several days to earn. Why is it thus? Beause they buy their Clothing without investigaion or comparison of prices and values.

Notoriety clothing dealers announce "marvel us and wonderful" bargains, and away goes the polish man to buy and—get duped. The Clothg bought will look well for a few days, but does not strike you that the beauty of such goods is mly skin deep? It won't stand wear.

The Clothing we sell we cheerfully guarantee, and we back this guarantee with our money.

Mr. C. W. Tunt Conveys His Property to Col. Arnett.

Charles W. Tunt, a well-known cigarmaker and dealer in smokers' goods at 1327 Market street, adjoining the Opera House, yesterday made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, Col. W. W. Arnett being the assignee. This announcement will occasion much surprise. Mr. Tunt had a good trade, and one of the best stands in town for his business. The deed, which was admitted to record by Clerk Hook yesterlay, conveys to the trustee all the stock, fixtures and furniture, claims and credits of the said Tunt, and provides that the assignee may sell the property as by him deemed most profitable, and shall out of the proceeds pay first a note for $825, payable to Joseph Perlman, of Baltimore, and bearing date June 1, 1886; second a note of $210, payable to Joseph These Cheap and adulterated candies sides which, he has held the office for four terms, eight years, and he thought if any other good man desired to make the race he ought not to stand in the way.
